Student networking opportunities offered at the conference

Benefits of networking - Regularly networking within your industry and discipline can set you up well to progress in your career. Nurturing relationships with your contacts is mutually beneficial. You can raise your professional profile and broaden your access to opportunities, plus work through industry challenges and gain satisfaction from assisting and connecting others in your network.

Consider these networking opportunities offered at the conference:

- ▶ Student Booth in the Exhibit Hall – 4/17/2018 to 4/19/2018 from 9am to 4pm
  - ▶ A student booth will be setup in the Exhibit Hall along with all the other exhibitors. The purpose of the booth is for students to meet and network with conference attendees. As the conference attendees walk through the exhibit hall, students can meet them, learn about the industry, hand out resumes, describe their interests and ambitions, set themselves up with contacts from the industry thereby developing their professional network
- ▶ Student / Employer speed networking session – 4/19/2018 (Time TBD)
  - ▶ A speed networking session will be held with 10 students and 10 industry professionals from various semiconductor companies like Intel, Samsung, Texas Instruments, Applied Materials, Global Foundries etc.
- ▶ Student Resumes
  - ▶ If you would like your resumes to be posted on the SSHA website, please send them to Geetha.Shankar@intel.com and Travis.Kruse@grainger.com
